Editorial
By Lillee Gelinas, Editor-in-Chief
Unprofessional behavior can be disruptive to patient care and team cohesion. Learn how to manage these situations using a practical approach.

Nurses’ essential role in promoting professionalism
By Marilyn Dubree, April Kapu, Michelle Terrell, James W. Pichert, William O. Cooper, Gerald B. Hickson
Knowing how to recognize and address unprofessional behavior helps create a healthy workplace for clinicians and patients.

Understanding medical management of aortic stenosis
By Kelly Haight
When your patient with aortic stenosis isn’t eligible for surgery, medical management and nursing care become the focus for controlling symptoms, optimizing cardiac function, and improving quality of life.

Managing chronic pain in cancer survivors
By Lauren Carter
Cancer survivors are at high risk for chronic pain. Your thorough assessment is the first step to pinpointing the cause and developing a care plan.

Rapid Response
28 Seizing the moment
By Misti Tuppeny
After a craniotomy to treat an intracerebral hematoma, a patient has a seizure. What steps will the rapid response team take to stop the seizure and keep the patient safe?

Practice Matters
41 Reducing stress to promote clinician well-being
By Pamela F. Cipriano
By combining our efforts with other healthcare organizations, ANA is working to help reduce stress among nurses.

Combatting stress
By Holly Carpenter
Everything from self-care to workplace design and employer actions can help alleviate stress.

From Where I Stand
56 Informed consent for foreign-educated health professionals
By Leeb Curtin
Legally and ethically, all health professionals should have access to the resources they need to ensure they understand the contracts they sign.

Web Exclusive!
Take note

Web Exclusive! What Works
Health promotion and disease prevention in rural communities
By Diana Niland and Tricia Barbarito
Learn how a critical access hospital in rural West Virginia developed a program to help members of the community reduce its risk of diabetes. Available at AmericanNurseToday.com/?p=25764.
ANA on the Frontline

29 Learn about the top issues facing ANA member nurses, how ANA is working for you, and what ANA is doing to advance nursing. This month’s feature provides a wrap up of a recent ANA conference on quality.

Career Sphere

46 Get creative about nursing
By Sandy Summers and Harry Summers
Make sure nurses are presented positively in the media by creating your own videos, books, artwork, and more.

Leading the Way

16 Financial terms 101
By Joyce E. Johnson
Are you intimidated by the financial side of nursing? Learn terms that will ease that fear so you can communicate more effectively with finance experts.

19 Karen Bankston: A leader who listens
By Apryl Motley
Karen Bankston, associate dean for clinical practice, partnership, and community engagement in the college of nursing at the University of Cincinnati, leads by following the YWCA motto: “She lifts as she climbs.”

Mind/Body/Spirit

43 Laugh, nurse, laugh!
By Kara Theal
Finding humor in your day can bring you closer to your colleagues and minimize stress.

Focus on...Nurses Week

38 Doctoral persistence and balancing competing roles
By Nancy Bellucci
Pursuing a doctorate requires support, a strategic approach to time management, and balance.

39 Nursing my vacation: How being a nurse (almost) ruined my dream vacation
By David Foley
This nurse’s vacation experience may help you relax and enjoy yourself on your next getaway.

Focus on...Emergency Care

52 Acute pain management in the trauma patient on chronic opiate therapy
By Jennifer Yeager and Kelly D. Rosenberger
A multimodal approach may be the best method for managing acute pain in your patient who’s receiving treatment for opioid addiction.

55 Maintenance treatment programs for opioid addiction
Learn about the pharmacology of maintenance treatments as well as their pros and cons.