

obligations. EMResident. 2025. <https://www.emra.org/emresident/article/ice-in-the-ed>

National Immigration Law Center. Warrants and subpoenas: what to look out for and how to respond. 2025. https://www.nilc.org/wp-content/uploads/2025/01/2025-Subpoenas-Warrants_.pdf

National Immigration Law Center. Health care providers and immigration enforcement: know your rights, know your patients' rights. 2025. <https://www.nilc.org/resources/healthcare-provider-and-patients-rights-imm-enf/>

Physicians for Human Rights, National Immigration Law Center. Health care and U.S. immigration enforcement: what providers need to know. 2025.

Each One Bring One

Contributing Author: Jada Quinn, DNP, APRN, FNP-BC, ACNP-BC, NPD-BC; President, South Carolina Nurses Association

We invite you to be part of something powerful—our Each One Bring One membership drive in support of our SC Nurses 3000 Strong Campaign. If every member of the South Carolina Nurses Association invites just one colleague to join, we can rapidly grow our community and strengthen the voice of nursing across our state and reach our goal of 3000 members.

When you recruit a new member, you're not just increasing numbers—you're expanding advocacy, leadership, and professional influence for all nurses in South Carolina. A stronger membership means greater impact on healthcare policy, more opportunities for leadership development, and a broader network of support and connection.

Think of a colleague, student, or peer who would benefit from SCNA—and extend the invitation today. Your personal connection is the most powerful recruitment tool we have.

Together, we can build a stronger, more unified nursing community.

Learn more about membership benefits and how to join at www.scnurses.org.

Thank you for leading the way.

Use this form to let SCNA when you make a referral for a new member or when a SCNA member refers you to join. <https://www.scnurses.org/page/MemberReferralReward> ■

Participate On SCNA Committees

We invite you to serve on one of our vital committees: the Bylaws Committee, Ethics Committee, or Policy Review Workgroup. Your insight and participation are essential to the continued growth and integrity of our organization. Your voice truly matters, and we value your perspective as we work together to shape our future.

Your insight leads to meaningful impact! Take a moment today, click the link below to indicate your preferred committee and help drive positive change within SCNA. We look forward to hearing from you and working together to build a stronger organization! Thank you for your commitment to SCNA!

<https://www.scnurses.org/general/custom.asp?page=ConsenttoParticipate>

Get your free access to the exclusive newsletter of American Nurse Journal and gain insight for your nursing practice.

NURSELINE

subscribe today!

powered by HCM HEALTHCARE MEDIA

myamericannurse.com/nurseline-newsletter/